

FOODSHARE

MEDIA ADVISORY

November 13, 2017

18th Annual Foodshare “Turkey Tuesday” Food Drive to Provide Holiday Dinners for Thousands of Local Families

- Bank of America, UnitedHealthcare, Foodshare & Talk of Connecticut’s Brad Davis host Turkey Tuesday food drive.
- Drop-off is located at CityPlace, 185 Asylum St. in Hartford

WHAT: With help from Hartford businesses and residents donating turkeys and other non-perishable food items on “Turkey Tuesday,” Foodshare will provide holiday meals for thousands of local families.

Bank of America and UnitedHealthcare are again partnering with Talk of Connecticut’s Brad Davis and Foodshare on its largest annual Thanksgiving food collection day. Residents are invited to donate at the Foodshare truck parked outside 185 Asylum St., where Bank of America and UnitedHealthcare volunteers will accept and load food donations.

Foodshare encourages people to donate early and often to ensure it can provide holiday meals to all families who need them. For a full list of donation sites visit www.ATurkeyand30.org.

WHEN: Tuesday, Nov. 14, 2017
5 - 10 a.m.

WHERE: CityPlace, 185 Asylum St.
Hartford, Conn.

- WHO/VISUALS:
- Lt. Governor Nancy Wyman
 - Hartford Mayor Luke Bronin
 - West Hartford Mayor Shari Cantor
 - Attorney General George Jepsen
 - Jason Jakubowski, president & CEO, Foodshare
 - Kevin Cunningham, Connecticut State President, Bank of America
 - Craig LaFiandra, , vice president, UnitedHealthcare National Accounts
 - Bank of America and UnitedHealthcare volunteers loading food donations

CONTACTS: Mary Brennan Coursey, Bank of America, (860) 305-0476
Monica Obrebski, Foodshare, (860) 966-5124
Mary McElrath-Jones, UnitedHealthcare, (914) 552-04671

###